

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Last Name, Credentials	First Name	Bio	Financial Disclosures	Non-Financial Disclosures
Alfieri, B.S.	Alexandra	Not provided	Not provided	Not provided
Allers, B.A.	Nicolette	Nicolette Allers is a graduate student at Portland State University. Her clinical focus is directed towards working in an inpatient setting with individuals in need of cognitive rehabilitation services. Additionally, she is passionate about promoting gender affirmation in all clinical and research settings.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Andres, CCC-SLP	Andryce	Andryce Andres is a Speech-Language Pathologist at Shriners Children's in Portland. She completed a master's degree with the Bilingual Concentration through the Speech and Hearing Program at Portland State University. Andryce currently serves children with complex communication needs. She is passionate about serving culturally and linguistically diverse (CLD) AAC users.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Bell, B.A.	Jenna	Jenna Bell is a graduate student in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Beltrán-Robinson, MA, CCC-SLP	Jessica	Jessica Beltrán Robinson, MA, CCC-SLP is an assistant clinical professor at the University of Oregon. As a bilingual, bicultural clinician her interests include expanding access to socially and culturally responsive therapy services for vulnerable populations and dismantling systemic racism in the field of medical speech pathology.	Salary from the University of Oregon & Peace Health Sacred Heart Medical Center	Member of Midwestern University Advisory Board
Bender, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Franklin	Franklin W. Bender, PhD, CCC-SLP is a retired clinical assistant professor in the Communication Disorders & Sciences program at the University of Oregon. He also worked in K-12 education and as a national education consultant. Dr. Bender's research interests include evaluation methods, treatment techniques, and social communication supports. He served as the president of OSHA in 2004.	No financial disclosures	Consultative work with Pacific University Communication Sciences & Disorders program
Brown, B.A., M.S., CCC-SLP	Amanda	Amanda Brown is a Speech-Language Pathologist at the InterMountain Education Service District serving the Early Childhood Special Education population. She has professional interests in implementing AAC with preschool populations and with Gestalt Language Processing. She enjoys exploring Eastern Oregon and all that small town life has to offer in Pendleton, Oregon.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Burke, CCC-SLP	Rebecca	I am an outpatient speech language pathologist at Salem Health. My 28 years of experience includes skilled nursing and university teaching. I obtained my PhD from UNL (Lincoln, NE) with areas of expertise in AAC and head injury. My goal is helping survivors of head injury realize their full potential.	I am a full-time employee of Salem Health	No non-financial disclosures
Cirillo	Lex	Lex Cirillo is an undergraduate student at Pacific University in the College of Education. They are interested in diverse ways of learning and in how to support young adults.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Combs, B.A.	Margaret	Margaret Combs is a 2nd-year graduate student in Speech-Language Pathology at Pacific University who is interested in stuttering and voice disorders.	Financial compensation for graduate assistantship at Pacific University working with Dr. Mandulak.	No non-financial disclosures
Corr, B.S.	Amanda	Amanda Corr is a graduate student of Portland State University. She is deeply interested in working towards removing communication barriers for people with acquired brain injury. Areas of clinical interest include cognitive rehabilitation and speech and language disorders in children and adults.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Cawal, MA TESOL	Janet	Janet Tom Cawal, Teaching Associate Professor in the Department of Applied Linguistics at Portland State University, engages in Activist Applied Linguistics, working together with communities in amplifying marginalized voices to increase social equity. She partners with communities to co-research language and water justice, houselessness, and access to legal information.	Janet Cawal works as a Teaching Associate Professor at Portland State University and receives a salary	No non-financial disclosures
Crawford, M.S., CCC-SLP	Stephanie	Stephanie Crawford is a speech language pathologist who specializes in providing AAC evaluations and treatment to children with complex access needs. She is the director of the Assistive Technology Clinic at the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center at Oregon Health & Science University.	Salaried employee at OHSU	Committee member and volunteer of Go Baby Go Oregon
Cycyk, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Lauren M.	Lauren M. Cycyk, Ph.D., CCC-SLP is a speech-language pathologist and an Associate Professor in Communication Disorders and Sciences at the University of Oregon. Her research interests include culturally and linguistically responsive care for young children from multilingual backgrounds with communication disorders with an emphasis on Spanish-English exposed toddlers.	Receives a salary from UO	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

De Anda, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Stephanie	Dr. De Anda earned her PhD from San Diego State University and UC San Diego in Language and Communicative Disorders. She is the co-director of the EDLD lab and broadly interested in early language acquisition in dual language contexts.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
DiMicco, B.S.	A.J.	A.J. DiMicco is a second year SLP graduate student at Pacific University in Forest Grove, Oregon. Her interests include acquired traumatic brain injury, aphasia, and aging care.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Dolata, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Jill	Jill Dolata is an Associate Professor in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University in Forest Grove. She also has an appointment at Oregon Health & Science University where she conducts research and clinical evaluations. Dr. Dolata's interests include autism, social communication, neurodiversity, and language assessment.	Salaried employee at Pacific University and Oregon Health & Science University. I receive royalties for the authorship of the Ages and Stages Questionnaire, which is not related to the topic of this presentaiton.	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Dutta, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Manaswita	Manaswita Dutta is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Speech and Hearing Sciences, Portland State University. Her research aims to investigate cognitive-linguistic changes resulting from neurological impairment and aging, specifically examining the link between executive functions and functional communication. Her recent work focuses on spoken discourse analysis and bilingualism.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Eddy, M.A., CCC-SLP	Brandon	Brandon Eddy is an Associate Clinical Professor in the Department of Speech &amp; Hearing Sciences at Portland State University. He is also an SLP at Shriners Hospitals for Children, and a Research Associate with the REKNEW Lab at OHSU. He completed his M.A. at the University of Iowa.	Brandon Eddy is a salaried faculty member at Portland State University in the Department of Speech &amp; Hearing Sciences.	Brandon Eddy is a member of ASHA, ASHA's SIG 12 (Augmentative &amp; Alternative Communication), and the OSHA Conference Planning Committee.
Fanning, PhD, CCC-SLP	Jessica	Dr. Jessica Fanning is a Clinical Associate Professor at University of Oregon Communication Disorders and Sciences program. Areas of clinical specialization include fluency, caregiver training, and behavior management. Current research interests include cross-age models of intervention support groups and tracking treatment fidelity to facilitate clinical decision-making with integrated fluency interventions.	Dr. Fanning has 1. full-time salaried employee of University of Oregon Communication Disorders and Sciences program 2. a portion of the project was supported by College of Education Fairway Fund award	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Fryer, M.A., CCC-SLP	Melissa	Melissa Fryer MA, CCC-SLP is clinical faculty in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University. She supervises graduate students in the Pacific Psychology and Comprehensive Health Clinic and teaches in the clinical seminar series. She also coordinates and teaches a foundational interprofessional practice, equity, and inclusion course for all health professions students at Pacific University. She is passionate about transparent supervision practices, interprofessional education, and supporting student clinical success.	Salaried employee at Pacific University	No non-financial disclosures
Galvin-McLaughlin, M.S., CCC-SLP	Deirdre	Deirdre Galvin-McLaughlin is a speech language pathologist with clinical expertise in AAC. She currently works in the Jay S Fishman ALS Augmentative Communication Program at Boston Children's Hospital and is an adjunct clinical supervisor/instructor at Boston University where she has launched an infant-toddler AAC program.	Salaried employee at Boston Children's Hospital and Boston University	Editor in chief of USSAAC speak Up! Blog and committee member on Communication Matrix Foundation
Gannett, B.A.	August	August Gannett is a 2nd-year graduate student at Pacific University in Speech-Language Pathology. She is interested in stuttering and speech-sound disorders.	Financial compensation for graduate assistantship at Pacific University working with Dr. Mandulak.	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Goldberg, SLP	AC	AC Goldberg (he/him) is a physically disabled intersex/transgender DEI consultant and SLP whose mission is to cultivate affirming spaces for all people. AC's work centers around empathy, humanity and intersectional cultural responsiveness. His continuing education nonprofit, The CREDIT Institute, is dedicated to advancing equity in educational and healthcare settings. AC is the 2022 recipient of the American Speech Language Hearing Association's (ASHA) Outstanding Service Award. If you'd like to get to know him, he's @transplaining and @CREDITsinstitute on Instagram.	AC is the founder of Transplaining LLC and The CREDIT Institute Inc. He's a community partner with CHAT Life Changing Speech Therapy and a contractor with Prismatic Speech Services. AC is an associate professor at Northeastern University. He is receiving honorarium and a conference registration waiver for this presentation.	AC is a founding member of the Trans Voice Initiative and is a topic area expert in gender for the Informed SLP. He is a 2023 ASHA Convention Planning Committee Diversity Co-Chair. AC serves on the community advisory board overseeing research out of Boston University about the effects of exogenous testosterone therapy on communication in AFAB speakers. He's also on the editorial board of the Journal of Communication Disorders.
Golfo, M.S., CF-SLP	Samantha	Samantha Golfo is a second-year student in Portland State University's Speech and Hearing Sciences Department. Her research and clinical interests include pediatric augmentative and alternative communication use and pediatric dysphagia. She hopes to work with pediatric clients and their families in an outpatient medical setting as a clinical fellow in the future.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Hager, M.S., CF-SLP	Haley	Haley Hager is a speech language pathologist completing her clinical fellowship at Oregon Health and Science University's Doernbecher Children's Hospital at the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center. Her interests include early intervention, autism, parent coaching, and AAC.	Haley Hager is an employee and receives a salary from Oregon Health and Science University.	No non-financial disclosures
Haines-Mangan, M.A., CCC-SLP	Kristin	Kristin is a Speech Language Pathologist and Assistant Professor at the Child Development and Rehabilitation Center at Oregon Health and Science University (OHSU) in Portland, Oregon. She works on the outpatient feeding and swallowing teams, performing team and individual clinical evaluations, as well as modified barium swallow studies.	Kristin receives a salary for her employment at OHSU.	No non-financial disclosures
Jennings, M.S., CCC-SLP	Emily	Emily Jennings, MS, CCC-SLP is a clinical assistant professor in Communication Sciences and Disorders at Cleveland State University and a speech-language pathologist at Cleveland Clinic. Prof. Jennings supervises individual and group speech therapy services for adult clients with neurogenic disorders. Areas of interest: evidence-based practice, person-centered care, and interprofessional collaboration.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Keil, M.S.	Virginia	Virginia Keil is a special education teacher at Grant High School in Portland, OR co-teaching with Greta to serve neurodiverse students. She has a bachelor's and master's degrees in special education. She has taught at all levels K-12 in her 8 years of experience. In her free time she enjoys hiking and skiing.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Kneedler, SSP, NSCP	Stephanie	Stephanie Kneedler, SSP, NCSP, is an Assessment Consultant with Western Psychological Services (WPS). Stephanie has nearly 10 years of public-school experience as a school psychologist for people pre-k through graduation in urban and rural settings both in Texas and Washington. Stephanie currently serves on the Washington State Association of School Psychologists Assessment Committee and is the former Government and Professional Relations chair for the Texas Association of School Psychologists. She serves on the IDEA Reauthorization Committee for the National Association of School Psychologists. Stephanie is actively engaged in research on traumatic brain injury prevention and intervention as well as advocacy for culturally sustaining practices in schools.	While I am an employee of WPS, I have no relevant financial interest or conflicts of interest related to this presentation	No non-financial disclosures
Larsen, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Jenny	Jenny is an adjunct faculty member in the School of CSD at Pacific University. Her clinical interests include language and literacy development and disorders, dyslexia and professional learning.	Adjunct Faculty at Pacific University	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Lenky, Ph.D. CCC-SLP	Laura	Laura E. Lenkey Ph.D. associate professor, Delaware Valley University. Private practice for over 40 years providing services face to face and virtually to persons with acquired disorders, across the lifespan. Utilizes innovative telepractice / telepedagogy to bridge theoretical constructs with clinical application in real time with real patient participants.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Litteral, B.S.	Brooke	Brooke Litteral, BS is master's student in the University of Oregon Communication Disorders and Sciences program. Her primary clinical interests include stuttering, AAC, and ASD. She is looking forward to focusing on communication effectiveness with children who stutter in her upcoming externships.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Lundeen-Smith, MS, CCC-SLP, MT-BC	Lori	Lori Lundeen-Smith, MS, CCC-SLP, MT-BC, is an associate professor of practice, supervisor, and serves as clinical manager in the Music Therapy Department at Cleveland State University. She teaches undergraduate and graduate courses, with an emphasis on supporting students in fieldwork experiences. Areas of interest: interprofessional collaboration and clinical education.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Mandaluk, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Kerry	Dr. Kerry Mandulak is a professor in the School of Communication Sciences & Disorders at Pacific University. Her research focus is on the feasibility and outcomes of holistic review for graduate admissions, and she has a special interest in examining inclusive and equitable teaching methods at the undergraduate and graduate level.	Salaried employee at Pacific University	No non-financial disclosures
McGill, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Megann	Megann McGill, PhD, CCC-SLP is an Assistant Professor in the Department of Speech & Hearing Sciences at Portland State University. Her research explores telepractice, Spanish-English bilingualism, and stuttering treatment approaches.	Megann McGill is a full-time, salaried employee at Portland State University.	Megann McGill is a member of the OSHA Executive Board.
Mena, B.S., M.S.	Jessica	Jessica is a second-year graduate student in Speech and Hearing Sciences at Portland State University. Her clinical interests include Spanish-English Bilingual topics, feeding and swallowing, and preschool-age language. She hopes to complete her clinical fellowship with pediatric clients in an outpatient medical or private setting, delivering culturally responsive services.	No financial disclosures	Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU) Child Development and Rehabilitation Center (CDRC) Intern
Middleton, B.A.	Alex	Alex Middleton is a graduate student in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University. Their research interests include autism, AAC, and gender affirming voice and communication modification.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Middleton, B.S.	Alex	Alex Middleton is a second year SLP graduate student at Pacific University. Their research interests include autism, AAC, and gender affirming voice and communication modification.	financial compensation for graduate assistantship at Pacific University working under Dr. Stead	No non-financial disclosures
Mitchell, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Mary	Mary is a Clinical Assistant Professor in the School of CSD at Pacific University. Mary's clinical and research interests include language/literacy disorders, professional learning, and supervision.	Full-time salaried faculty at Pacific University	No non-financial disclosures
Morgan, M.S.	Meg	Meg Morgan, MS, CCC-SLP, BCS-CL has worked as a Spanish-English bilingual speech-language pathologist in Arizona, Texas, New Hampshire, Massachusetts, and Maine. She earned her master's degree in the multilingual program at Arizona State University. She is currently a clinical assistant professor at the University of New Hampshire.	Meg is receiving honorarium and a con	Meg is the chair of ASHA's school issues advisory board and an executive board member for the New Hampshire Speech-Language Hearing Association.
Muñoz, Ph.D, CCC-SLP	Maria	Maria L. Muñoz, Ph.D., CCC-SLP is Professor at the University of Redlands. She received her doctorate from the University of Texas in Austin as a participant in the Multicultural Leadership Training Program. She conducts research, teaches, and publishes in the areas of aphasia in Spanish/English bilinguals and multicultural issues in communication sciences and disorders.	Dr. Muñoz is receiving honorarium and a conference registration waiver for this presentation.	No non-financial disclosures.

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Neal,	Marcus	Marcus Neal is the owner of two private practice clinics in Austin, TX. He and his colleagues provide services to children with a wide variety of communication disorders. He has a track record of engaging and insightful public speaking events that help professionals and parents learn about PROMPT Therapy.	I have the following relevant relationship in the services described and reviewed in this presentation: PROMPT Institute contract employee, which entails conducting PROMPT Instructor responsibilities.	No non-financial disclosures
NoorAli, M.S., CCC-SLP	Sabreen	Sabreen is a doctoral student at Communication Sciences & Disorders with a research focus on implementation science and assessment of bilingual speaking children. Sabreen earned her masters degree from Pakistan in speech language pathology and has worked at variety of settings. Sabreen has been an active social advocate of inclusive education for children with special needs.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Olson, B.S.	Elizabeth	Elizabeth is a second year graduate student in the Audiology program at Pacific University.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Osborn	Carrie	Carrie is a Graduate Student Clinician at University of Oregon in the Communication and Sciences Department within the College of Education. She is expecting to graduate this Spring and looks forward to starting her Clinical Fellowship soon. She is passionate about working with the adult population within the medical setting.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Peltier, M.S., CCC-SLP	Elise	Elise Peltier M.S, CCC-SLP is a Clinical Associate Professor at University of Oregon in the Communication and Sciences Department within the College of Education. She is the lead clinical supervisor for the Center for Acquired Adult Language and Motor Speech Disorders (CAALMS) and values mentoring graduate clinicians and community involvement.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Peters, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Betts	Betts Peters is a Research Assistant Professor in the REKNEW Lab at Oregon Health & Science University, where her research focuses on brain-computer interface as an AAC access method and on communicative participation for people with ALS.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Petty, B.A.	Tenli	Tenli is a first-year graduate student in the school of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University. Tenli's clinical interests include social communication intervention methods and culturally responsive communication evaluations.	No financial disclosures	Research assistant & graduate assistant under Dr. Mary Mitchell

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Pillay	Mershen	Mershen (audiologist, speech therapist) has 30 years' experience in South Africa, with colleagues in Africa/Asia (e.g., Uganda, Sri Lanka, Ghana); has practised in the UK, and developed services in the Middle East (United Arab Emirates). He is Massey University programme leader and honorary associate professor, University of KwaZulu-Natal (South Africa).	Dr. Pillay is receiving honorarium and a conference registration waiver for this presentation.	No non-financial disclosures.
Pryor, Ph.D., CCC-SLP, BCS-S	Jan C.	Jan is employed at the University of Washington Medical Center, Seattle. She received her BA and MA from University of Northern Colorado, and her PhD in Rehabilitation Sciences from University of Washington. Jan has worked in medical settings from the ICU to skilled nursing facilities over the past 30 years.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Quinn, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Emily	Emily Quinn is a speech-language pathologist and assistant professor in the department of pediatrics at Oregon Health & Science University.	Emily is an employee at OHSU and receives grant funding from NIH and IES	Emily is volunteer board member of the Communication Matrix Foundation.
Rice, B.S.	Rebecca	Rebecca Rice is a second year graduate student in the school of Communication Sciences and Disorders at Pacific University. Her interests are in geriatrics, aphasia, and acquired brain injury.	Financial compensation for graduate assistantship at Pacific University working under Dr. Stead.	No non-financial disclosures
Roberts, EdD, CCC-SLP	Teresa	Teresa Roberts (she, her) works as an Associate Clinical Professor in Speech and Hearing Sciences at Portland State University. Her areas of interest include language development and disorders, multiculturalism, and postsecondary pedagogy. She teaches and has served as Faculty in Residence for Inclusive Pedagogy in the Office of Academic Innovation.	Teresa Roberts works as an Associate Clinical Professor at Portland State University and receives a salary.	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Sheets, B.S.	Jessica	Jessica Sheets is a graduate student of Portland State University. Her clinical and research interests include cognitive and linguistic communication disorders after acquired brain injury. She hopes to continue research on interventions that encourage functional outcomes and improve quality of life.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Shune, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Samantha	Samantha Shune, PhD, CCC-SLP is an Associate Professor at the University of Oregon. Her interests include the more holistic effects of aging on the biopsychosocial aspects of swallowing and mealtimes and how shared food-related activities can be therapeutically targeted to improve quality of life for older adults and their families.	Salary from the University of Oregon	Member and Committee Chair of the Dysphagia Research Society
Simpson, B.A.	Hannah	Hannah is a Graduate Student Clinician at University of Oregon in the Communication and Sciences Department within the College of Education. She is expecting to graduate this Fall and looks forward to starting her Clinical Fellowship and passionate about working with the adult population within the medical settings.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Sloan, M.S. CCC-SLP	Jayme	Jayme Sloan, MS, CCC-SLP, is a Clinical Assistant Professor at the University of Oregon where she supervises in the Brain Injury and Concussion Clinic and coordinates the graduate student externships. She thoroughly enjoys supporting students transition from student to clinician.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Sloane, PT, DPT, PhD(c), PCS	Bethany	Bethany Sloane is a pediatric physical therapist who specializes in mobility for young children with complex needs. She is co-director of Go Baby Go Oregon, and provides research and clinical practice regarding power mobility at OHSU.	Salaried employee of OHSU	Co-director of Go Baby Go Oregon
Stead, Ph.D., CCC-SLP, CHSE	Amanda	Amanda Stead, Ph.D., CCC-SLP, CHSE is an associate professor at Pacific University in Oregon. She teaches courses in Communication and Aging, Aphasia, Progressive Neurological Disorders, and Counseling. Her research is in the area of evidence-based education, simulation, and end-of-life care.	Salaried employee at Pacific University	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Swain, Ed.D., CCC-SLP	Deborah	Dr. Deborah Ross-Swain has over 35 years of clinical, professional and advocacy experience. She is the Vice President of ASHA’s Government Affairs and Public Policy and former chair of ASHA’s Government Affairs and Public Policy Board. Dr. Swain is an ASHA, CSHA and NAP Fellow. She is the author of numerous texts, treatment manuals and standardized test batteries. Dr. Swain is a national and international speaker.	Dr. Swain is receiving honorarium and a conference registration waiver for this presentation.	No non-financial disclosures
Tan, B.A., M.S.	Emily	Emily Tan is a second-year student in Portland State University’s Speech &amp; Hearing Sciences Department. Her research and clinical interests include augmentative and alternative communication. She is excited to collaborate with related professionals, clients and their families in a pediatric outpatient setting as a clinical fellow.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Tinsley, M.S., CCC-SLP	Jordan	Jordan Tinsley, M.S. CCC-SLP is a clinical assistant professor in Pacific University's School of Communication Sciences and Disorders. She teaches undergraduate and graduate courses, and coordinates clinical placements. Her clinical interests include voice disorders and gender affirming care. Research focuses include: Scholarship of Teaching and Learning (SoTL) and simulation.	Employed by Pacific University, receives salary	VP of Science and Education on OSHA Board
Towson, Ph.D., CCC-SLP	Jacqueline	Associate Professor in the School of Communication Sciences and Disorders with a joint appointment in School of Teacher Education at University of Central Florida, following 14 years in public schools. She focuses on building the capacity of individuals who work with young children experiencing language impairments and those considered at-risk.	Dr. Towson is receiving honorarium and conference registration waiver for this presentation.	No non-financial disclosures.
Ulitsky, B.S.	Yana	Yana Ulitsky, B.S., is master's student in the University of Oregon Communication Disorders and Sciences program. Her primary clinical interests include stuttering, adult language disorders, and cognitive rehabilitation. She is looking forward to focusing on fluency in her upcoming externships.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

West, M.S. CCC-SLP	Greta	Greta West is an AuDHD speech-language pathologist who has the immense pleasure of serving neurodivergent and disabled high school students in Portland, Oregon. Her areas of interest are neurodiversity, autism, executive function, inclusion, and the social model of disability. She has a never ending list of books to recommend.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures
Westrick, AuD	Trent	Trent Westrick is a professor in the school of Audiology at Pacific University.	Trent is a professor at Pacific University and receives a salary.	No non-financial disclosures
Weybright, M.S., CCC-SLP, BCS-F	Glenn	Glenn Weybright, M.S., CCC-SLP, BCS-F, is a speech-language pathologist in Portland Oregon. He is a former adjunct instructor at Portland State University where he taught the graduate stuttering class. He is a founding member of the Portland chapter of the National Stuttering Association and a Camp More senior staff member	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures

OSHA 2023 Fall Conference
Speaker Bios Disclosures

Wolford, PhD, MS CCC-SLP, CSE	Laura	Laura Wolford, PhD, MS CCC-SLP, CSE is a speech-language pathologist, researcher, and AASECT-certified sex educator. As founder of the SPICE Institute, she works from a disability justice framework to teach SLPs to address sex, intimacy, and consent with their clients across the lifespan.	Laura Wolford is the founder of The SPICE Institute, PLLC, a private practice that addresses the effects of communication disorders on sexual health and consent and provides continuing education for healthcare clinicians. She is also a faculty member at MGH Institute of Health Professions, from which she receives a salary and support for conference presentations. She is receiving honorarium and a conference registration waiver for this presentation.	She is the Disability Justice Special Interest Group chair for the American Association of Sexuality Educators, Counselors, and Therapists (AASECT) and a certified sex educator. She is also a member of the Council of Academic Programs in Communication Sciences and Disorders' (CAPCSD) Diversity Equity and Inclusion committee, an appointed member of the American Speech-Language Hearing Association (ASHA) Continuing Education Board, and a board member for the CREDIT Institute, an organization teaching intersectional cultural responsiveness for speech-language pathologists.
Yarbor, M.S., CF-SLP	Amber	Amber Yarbor (she/her) is a second year master of science student at Portland State University. She is a prospective clinical fellow with specialized training in acute care, and looks forward to serving adult and geriatric populations with neurological, swallowing, and communication impairments.	No financial disclosures	No non-financial disclosures